Traditional setting.

Traditional laying is perfect for high-traffic pavements like parking zones, access roads, paths, ramps, and more. For optimal results, use the traditional floating and buttering method with cementitious adhesives. Use this method for reliable and durable pavement solutions that endure heavy usage.

Raised floor.

Floor Raising Systems creates an air space between the ground and tiles. This flexible method offers a convenient and flexible solution for resolving infrastructure issues without breaking the tiles.

“From Grass to Sand, Gravel to Grandeur – Our Outdoor Tiles Bring Nature’s Artistry to Life!”

Setting on grass.

Cut the grass underneath each tile and replace it with a stable, level 3-4 cm thick gravel layer. This creates a solid foundation for placing and arranging the tiles. By following this procedure, you'll achieve a stable and visually appealing results.

Dry laying.

Setting on gravel.

To ensure a stable installation, it is important to have a leveled gravel surface. If the gravel particles are too large, it is recommended to add a layer of smaller particles (ranging from 8 to 0.5 mm) to achieve a more even base for the tiles.

Dry laying.

Setting on sand.

For a reliable installation, work on an 8-10cm thick compacted and level layer of sand. Place the ceramic tiles according to your desired design, creating a visually appealing and durable surface.

Dry laying.
